2020 Intermediate 3-Position Smallbore Rifle Camp Announcement

The American Smallbore Shooting Association (ASSA), the Indiana State Rifle and Pistol Association, and The X Count are pleased to announce that we have combined our efforts to conduct an intermediate smallbore rifle camp on July 27-31 at the Chief Wa-Ke-De range in Bristol, Indiana.

The camp is an excellent resource for intermediate level junior 3-position competitors to receive quality instruction to elevate their performance levels. Instruction will be provided via a topflight coaching staff utilizing a balance of classroom and range sessions allowing a practical application of lessons learned on an outdoor range environment. A total of twenty (20) camp positions are available. Applications must be completed online at <https://isrpa.wildapricot.org/event-3712834>.

A second mini camp will be offered July 24-26 if 15+ Junior athletes enroll.

ASSA President Mike Carter stated, "The ASSA is excited to partner with The X-Count for the 2020 Championship matches in Bristol Indiana. With the expertise of Gregg and Diane Rice of The X-Count and the new features at Chief Wa-Ke'-De range, the junior camp can run simultaneously with the matches. This will create an optimal environment in which the junior shooters are able to learn from their camp coaches and observe some of the best shooters in the country at the same time."

The X Count, based in Ft. Wayne, Indiana is dedicated to the promotion of the safe use of firearms through a wide variety of programs. An additional focus is on the development of club and high school athletes for Olympic precision rifle events. The X Count also conducts programs for disabled veterans, Scouting merit badges, Eddie the Eagle youth firearm safety programs and community outreach programs.
